ELECTIONLINE

SUMMITS AND DEBATES: A whirlwind week of foreign policy campaigning climaxes today as President Reagan meets Andrei Gromyko. But the Soviet summitry — including Walter Mondale's session with Gromyko Thursday — was nearly overshadowed by controversy over Reagan's charge that past presidents weakened the CIA.

Angry rebuttals by former President Jimmy Carter and other Democrats, and clarifications from Reagan and Vice President Bush showed up on network newscasts on a day both parties hoped to look "presidential."
